

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATORS:

Tell your story.

It's time for Nebraska to hear how you help children, families, and communities thrive.

We Care for Kids is listening to and lifting up the stories of early childhood educators. We want to help communities better understand and appreciate the essential work you do caring for and educating our youngest Nebraskans, from birth through age eight.

What goes into helping children and families thrive, what are your challenges as a professional, what do you need to stay in the profession—what do you want people to know about the power of your work?

We Care for Kids works to ensure that all Nebraska families have access to quality early childhood education by building support for the thousands of early childhood educators who help Nebraska.

Visit NebraskaCaresforKids.org/Educators to share your story and hear from other early childhood educators in your community.

“As an early childhood educator, it’s important to understand that each family and child has unique needs, beliefs, and things that are important to them. I work to understand the goals of each family and meet them where they are. There is a time to care and a time to educate, but you can’t have one without the other. If people truly care about Nebraska’s kids and our future, they should care to support early childhood educators.”

CHELSEA LARKINS, EARLY CHILDHOOD SPECIAL EDUCATOR, RAYMOND CENTRAL PRESCHOOL, RAYMOND, NE

Share your story:

This campaign is coordinated by the Buffett Early Childhood Institute at the University of Nebraska.

Quality Early Childhood Education
For All Nebraska Families